Conference Outline

The 4th Asian Conference on Machine Learning aims to provide a leading international forum for researchers in machine learning and related fields to share their new ideas and achievements. Three invited keynote speakers, and tutorials make the programme an exciting event for all levels of researchers. This year's invited speakers include James Rehg (Georgia Inst. of Tech.), Dale Schuurmans (Univ. of Alberta), and Bob Williamson (NICTA).

Call For Papers

The conference solicits research papers reporting original investigation results and proposals focusing on frontier research in all aspects of machine learning. Submissions from other than the Asia-Pacific regions are also highly encouraged. Each paper will be rigorously reviewed by at least three reviewers and reviewing is double-blind. The proceedings will be published after the conference as a volume of Journal of Machine Learning Research (JMLR): Workshop and Conference Proceedings. Authors of selected papers will be invited to submit a significantly extended version of their paper to a post-conference special issue of the "Machine Learning" journal. The best student paper will receive an award sponsored by Machine Learning journal.

Paper Submission

This year ACML will have a new feature: two submission deadlines. The late deadline has the usual "accept" or "reject" outcomes. In addition to the two outcomes, the early deadline also has "conditional accept subject to required revisions", and "resubmit" with notification in time for them to make the final deadline. The submission of "conditional accept" decision is strongly encouraged to carefully address the review comments in their revision. The revision without addressing the review comments properly might be rejected. The submission of "resubmit" decision must be significantly improved and revised before it can be re-submitted in the late deadline. Fresh submissions that have not caught up with the early deadline are also welcome for the final submission due. Details about policies regarding paper formats, submission, dual submission, and conference no-shows are at the website:
